BTC 8-Hour Market Report

BTC ~ $77,800

Sunday 01 Nov 2026, 15:50 Malaysia time (07:50 UTC)

TokenPost/Binance 06:44-07:07 UTC | 24h +0.8% | 7d about -4%

Quick view	Bias: Neutral, slight bearish lean below $78.6k	Next 24h range: $76,800 - $79,000	Key floor: $76,300-76,500 (week low, 200-day EMA)	Big event: Binance withdrawals reopen today; US midterms Tue; jobs report Fri

1. Options - next 24 hours and upcoming expiries

- Today's daily Deribit expiry (1 Nov, 4:00pm MYT) settles at report time; the next one is Mon 2 Nov, 4:00pm MYT - a routine daily, normally only a few hundred million USD.
- The last big one is done: the 30 Oct monthly (~$10.9B) settled at $78,119, right on its $78,000 max pain, which has freed price from that pin.
- The expiry that matters this week is Fri 6 Nov (4:00pm MYT), ~$2.07B, call-heavy (P/C 0.32) with max pain $80,000. It lands just hours before the US jobs report (9:30pm MYT).

Expiry	Largest position seen	Size	Meaning
2 Nov daily	Strike detail not readable this run	Small (routine daily)	Too small to steer price; spot flows and Binance news dominate
6 Nov weekly - calls	$82k / $85k / $90k call cluster	~$1.56B of $2.07B (calls 3.1x puts)	Upside magnets if BTC reclaims $80k; dealers would chase above $82k
6 Nov weekly - puts	$74k-$78k put cluster	~$0.50B	Hedging zone; a slide into $76k-74k could see dealer selling accelerate

Upcoming expiries

Expiry (Malaysia time)	Notional	Put/Call	Max pain	Largest strikes
Mon 2 Nov, 4:00pm (daily)	Small	n/a	n/a	Not readable this run
Fri 6 Nov, 4:00pm (weekly)	~$2.07B	0.32	$80,000	Calls $82k, $85k, $90k; puts $74k-$78k
Fri 13 Nov, 4:00pm (weekly)	n/a	n/a	n/a	$74k put led volume 30-31 Oct; 2 x 1,000 BTC mid-Nov $74k put blocks

How options affect the market now

- Pin is gone: with the 30 Oct monthly settled, price is no longer anchored to $78k by expiry; the next real pull is $80k max pain for both 6 Nov and 27 Nov - a mild upward magnet, but only if spot holds above $77k.
- Put demand is the story: ~$590M of Paradigm put blocks after the Binance hack, focused on $74k-$78k, plus $74k mid-Nov puts. Dealers short these puts sell spot/futures as price falls, so a break of $76.3k could speed up toward $75k-74k.
- Calls above are far: the $82k-$90k calls for 6 Nov only matter if BTC first reclaims $80k-81k (50-day EMA); then dealer short-call hedging could add fuel.
- Sentiment: weekly P/C 0.32 and monthly 0.65 still lean bullish in positioning, but fresh flow is defensive (puts led volume). Total BTC options OI is about $28.4B.

- Volatility: DVOL eased to ~38.7 on 30 Oct after a spike to 42 on the hack (implied daily move about 2%, roughly +/- $1,600). Today's tight $656 range suggests compression that usually ends with a larger move.
- Next 24h expiry: too small to matter; macro (ISM, Binance reopening) is the bigger driver.

Data note: the Deribit public API could not be read this run, so strike-level OI comes from published reports (TokenPost, BigGo, Tokenist, 30-31 Oct) and is 'largest seen', not complete. DVOL is the last published reading (30 Oct).

2. Price action and key levels

- BTC is near $77,800, up ~0.8% in 24h but about 4% lower on the week after the 29 Oct Binance hack and Friday's Wall Street sell-off.
- Sunday's range was only $77,094-$77,750 (0.85%), the tightest since 17 Oct, versus an October median of 2.3% - a coiled market.
- Price is below the 7, 20 and 50-day averages ($79.1k / $80.9k / $82.0k) but well above the 200-day SMA ($73.2k). RSI 37.7, stochastics under 20: stretched, not yet washed out.
- Futures longs still crowd the book (Binance long/short 2.52), so a downside break can trigger forced selling.

Type	Level	Why it matters
Resistance 2	$80,000-80,900	Max pain for 6 and 27 Nov, round number, 50-day EMA $80.6k, 20-day SMA $80.9k
Resistance 1	$78,300-78,600	Binance-chart resistance and 30 Oct interim highs ($78,107 / $78,638)
Pivot	$77,800	Current price and daily pivot; above = base/bull, below = drift lower
Support 1	$77,050-77,100	Friday morning low and the floor of today's range; liquidation reference
Support 2	$76,300-76,500	Week low $76,338 and 200-day EMA ~$76,470
Deep risk	$75,000 / $74,000	Sept low $74,968, $75k monthly put, heavy $74k put blocks; below that $73k (Aug breakout, 200-day SMA)

3. Derivatives, flows and sentiment

Metric	Latest	Read
Binance BTC futures OI	~$7.45B (-0.9% 24h), 1 Nov 07:00 UTC	Leverage drifting lower, no new build-up
Funding (Binance 8h)	+0.0100%	Neutral; longs still pay, no capitulation
Long/short ratio	2.52 global; 2.68 top traders	Crowded long - downside fuel if $76.3k breaks
Liquidations	$1.55B in 24h on 30 Oct (83.6% longs; $502M BTC)	Big flush already done; quieter since
Spot BTC ETF flows	-$643M on 30 Oct	Largest outflow since June; next data Mon 2 Nov (US)
Options OI (all BTC)	~$28.4B (31 Oct); calls 58% / puts 42%	Calls dominate OI, puts dominate fresh flow
DVOL (30-day IV)	~38.7 (30 Oct; peak 42)	Moderate; implies ~2% daily move
Fear & Greed	34 (Fear), up from 30	Fear easing slightly; fell from 70 to 36 during October

4. News and macro

- Binance hack recovery: ~$6.3B was drained from hot wallets on 29 Oct (TRM Labs links it to North Korea's TraderTraitor). Binance says 95% is replenished and phase-one withdrawals (BTC, ETH, BNB, SOL, XRP and 10 more networks) reopen 1 Nov 06:00-09:00 UTC (2-5pm MYT). Full proof of reserves due Tue 3 Nov.
- Fed: FOMC held at 3.75%-4.00% on 28 Oct under Chair Kevin Warsh, with Cook and Hammack dissenting for a hike; futures price ~80% odds of a December hike - a headwind for risk assets.

- Stocks: Nasdaq -2.86% and S&P 500 -1.8% on 30 Oct after Alphabet's -12.6% day and doubts about AI spending; crypto has been trading with tech.
- ETFs: spot BTC ETFs lost $643M on 30 Oct, the biggest one-day redemption since June.
- Politics/regulation: US midterms on Tue 3 Nov decide House and Senate control and the fate of the CLARITY Act market-structure bill.

Thu 10 Dec, 3:00am	Next FOMC decision (8-9 Dec meeting)

5. Summary and prediction

BTC is stabilising near $77.8k after the Binance hack shock, a $643M ETF outflow and a tech-led stock sell-off. Options show calls still dominate open interest, but fresh money is buying protection at $74k-$78k, and the 30 Oct pin at $78k has expired. A smooth Binance withdrawal reopening is the near-term upside catalyst; crowded futures longs and a hawkish Fed are the downside risk. With volatility compressed, expect a range first, then a break. 24h call: range-bound $76,800-$79,000 with a slight downside lean while below $78,600.

Scenario	Chance	Range	Trigger
Base: range	50%	$76,800 - $79,000	Binance reopening goes smoothly but no new buyers; Sunday thin liquidity
Bullish	25%	$78,600 - $80,500	Hourly close above $78,600 on clean withdrawals and steady funding; target $80k max pain
Bearish	25%	$75,000 - $76,800	Withdrawal problems or weak ISM; loss of $76,300 triggers long liquidations and put hedging

- Upside signal: hourly close above $78,600, then a daily close above $80,000 opens $80.6k-82k.
- Downside signal: break below $76,300 with rising volume and liquidations points to $75,000 then $74,000.
- Next report: 11:50pm MYT, Sun 1 Nov
