1. Options - next 24 hours and upcoming expiries

- Next expiry: Deribit daily, Tue 13 Oct 4:00pm MYT (08:00 UTC). Strike data for this daily could not be read this run (Deribit API not reachable); dailies are usually small and rarely move price on their own.
- This week's weekly: Fri 16 Oct 4:00pm MYT - about 15,037 BTC (~$1.24B), put-heavy (P/C 1.50), biggest position the $80k put. Modest size.
- The expiry that matters: the monthly on Fri 30 Oct (~140,844 BTC, ~$11.6B, about 35% of Deribit BTC options OI) with max pain near $78k and a huge $95k call.

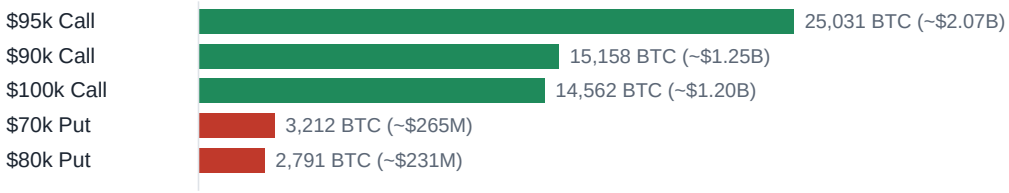
Largest open interest - 30 Oct monthly (Deribit, BTC)



How options affect the market now

- Daily expiry is not a driver: the 13 Oct daily is too small to pin price; macro (yields, oil, CPI) dominates the next 24h.
- $80k is the options floor: both the weekly ($80k put is its largest line) and monthly have heavy puts at $80k. Dealers who sold those puts tend to buy dips toward it, but a clean break could speed selling as hedges are adjusted.
- Upside calls are far away: $90k/$95k/$100k calls sit 9-21% above spot. They are not walls for the next day; they matter only if a squeeze starts.
- Max pain pull is lower: monthly max pain ~$78k (Deribit) sits below spot. Into 30 Oct, call sellers benefit from price staying under $85k; this is a slow drift, not a 24h force.
- Sentiment split: weekly P/C 1.50 = short-term hedging into CPI; monthly P/C 0.48 = longer-dated traders still positioned for upside.

- After expiries: once the 16 Oct weekly clears, CPI-related hedges roll off and moves can widen; the bigger vol release is after 30 Oct.

Data note: Deribit's public API (index, DVOL, book summary) was not reachable this run, so daily-expiry strikes and implied volatility are missing. Weekly/monthly figures are 'largest seen' from CryptoTicker (10 Oct) and Bitcoin.com/TokenPost (10-11 Oct) snapshots; USD sizes recalculated at ~$82,600.

2. Price action and key levels

- BTC bounced from last week's low of $80,393 to an intraday high near $84,250 early Monday as about $140M of shorts were squeezed after the weekly close.
- The rally faded: CoinDesk had BTC near $83,400 by 6:30pm MYT and live quotes now show ~$82,600 (Coinbase, -0.65% 24h).
- Weekly close was $83,773, down ~3.2% w/w; price is back inside the $82-84k range that has held since Thursday's selloff.
- Headwinds: dollar near an 18-month high, US Treasury yields at multi-decade highs, Brent above $100.

Type	Level	Why it matters
Resistance	$84,250 / $86-88k	Monday's rejected high; dense short-liquidation cluster at $86-88k, $87k cited as resistance
Pivot	$83,000-83,800	Weekly close area; holding above keeps the bounce alive
Support	$82,000-82,500	Analyst-cited must-hold; old weekly resistance now support
Deep risk	$80,000-80,400	Last week's low, long-liquidation cluster and the biggest weekly put strike
Below that	$78,000	Monthly max pain; next magnet if $80k breaks

5. Summary and prediction

BTC's Monday bounce to $84,250 was a short squeeze rather than fresh demand: futures OI is flat, funding is neutral, ETFs just logged a $681M weekly outflow and the Coinbase premium is negative. Price has slipped back to ~$82,600, inside a $82-84k range. Options add a floor near $80k (largest weekly put, monthly puts, last week's low) while upside calls at $90k+ are too far to matter in 24h. With US CPI 44 hours away and yields/dollar strong, the most likely path is range trading with a slight downward lean. 24h call: range $81,500-84,500, slight bearish tilt; a break below $82,000 opens $80,000.

Scenario	Chance	Range	Trigger
Base: range	55%	$81,500 - $84,500	Pre-CPI caution, flat OI, neutral funding
Bullish	20%	$84,500 - $87,000	Hourly close above $84,250 with ETF inflows; squeezes shorts toward the $86-88k cluster
Bearish	25%	$79,500 - $82,000	Loss of $82,000 on rising yields/oil or more ETF outflows; targets $80k put zone

- Hourly close above $84,250 = bullish breakout signal; close below $82,000 = bearish signal toward $80k.
- Tuesday's ETF flow print (US Monday data) and dollar/10y yield direction before CPI.
- Next report: 7:50am MYT, Tue 13 Oct.
