BTC 8-Hour Market Report

Mon 12 Oct 2026, 10:00 Malaysia time (02:00 UTC) | Report #1

BTC ~ $83,600

Deribit index, early Asia session | week -2.2%

| Quick view | Bias: neutral to slightly bearish | Next 24h range: $82,000 - $84,300 | Key floor: $80,000 (largest put hedges) | Big event: US CPI Wed 8:30pm |
|---|---|---|---|---|

1. Options - next 24 hours and upcoming expiries

- Next expiry within 24h: Deribit daily, Tue 13 Oct, 4:00pm Malaysia time (08:00 UTC).
- Daily expiries are very small. Open interest seen is only about 50 BTC (~$4M), so it will not move the market.
- The expiry that matters this week is Fri 16 Oct, 4:00pm (~$1.25B), which is put-heavy (P/C 1.50).

| Expiry | Largest position seen | Size | Meaning |
|---|---|---|---|
| Tue 13 Oct 4pm (daily) | $86,000 Call | 29.2 BTC (~$2.4M) | Small bet on a jump above $86k by Tuesday |
| Tue 13 Oct 4pm (daily) | $81,500 Put | 19.1 BTC (~$1.6M) | Small protection against a drop below $81.5k |
| Fri 16 Oct 4pm (weekly) | $75,000 Put | 334 BTC (~$28M) | Largest weekly put seen: crash insurance before CPI |
| Fri 16 Oct 4pm (weekly) | $82,000 Call | 53.9 BTC (~$4.5M) | Close to price; pins around $82k are possible |

Upcoming expiries

| Expiry (Malaysia time) | Notional | Put/Call | Max pain | Largest strikes |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Tue 13 Oct 4pm (daily) | ~$4M | ~0.76 | n/a | $86k call, $81.5k put |
| Fri 16 Oct 4pm (weekly) | ~$1.25B | 1.50 | not published | $75k put (largest seen) |
| Fri 30 Oct 4pm (monthly) | $11.69B | 0.48 | $78k Deribit; $81-82k Binance/OKX | Calls $95k / $90k / $100k; puts $70k / $80k / $72k |

Fri 30 Oct monthly expiry - largest open interest by strike (Deribit, BTC contracts)

How options affect the market now

- Next 24h: little effect. Tuesday's daily expiry is too small to move price.
- This week: defensive. Friday's P/C of 1.50 shows traders buying protection before Wednesday's CPI. Hedging can add selling pressure if price falls.
- $80,000 is the options floor. It is the biggest put zone for both Friday and 30 Oct. Expect dip-buying there, but if it breaks, hedging could speed a drop toward $78k and then $75k.
- Upside calls are far away. The $90-100k calls ($4.5B) are 8-20% above price and matter only if BTC first clears $87k.
- Max-pain pull is downward. Deribit's $78k is ~6% below price, a mild drag into 30 Oct (weak signal on its own).
- Implied volatility is calm. DVOL is 37.4, implying a typical daily move of about +/-2% (~$1,650). Options are cheap ahead of CPI.

Data note: Deribit's live strike list is only partly readable from the report system, so the daily and weekly strike sizes above are the largest seen, not guaranteed to be the largest overall. Monthly figures come from published Deribit/Coinglass data (10 Oct).

2. Price action and key levels

- BTC has held a tight $82,000 - $83,700 range all weekend, after dropping from ~$86,700 (7 Oct) to a $80,393 low on 8 Oct.
- That selloff flushed ~$1.1B of leveraged longs; price then recovered above $81k after Trump ruled out Iran strikes before the midterms.
- Price is still above the 20-day EMA (~$83.5k on 7 Oct data) and well above the 200-day EMA (~$75k). The bigger trend is up, but momentum has stalled.
- Monday is Columbus Day in the US (bond market closed), so expect lighter US volume today.

| Type | Level | Why it matters |
|---|---|---|
| Resistance | $87,000 - 87,300 | Recent top; a break would bring the $90k calls into play |
| Resistance | $84,150 - 84,300 | Main resistance zone and old ~$84k max-pain level |
| Pivot | $83,000 - 83,700 | Current range top / decision zone |
| Support | $82,200 | Weekend range low |
| Support | $80,400 / $80,000 | Weekly low plus largest put hedges |
| Deep risk | $78,000 / $75,000 | Monthly max pain / leverage cluster (Glassnode) |

3. Derivatives, flows and sentiment

| Metric | Latest | Read |
|---|---|---|
| Futures open interest | $51.7B (-1.6% 24h) | Leverage easing slowly, but not fully reset |
| Funding rate | ~7% annualised (Deribit) | Low vs 27% before the 2025 crash: longs not crowded |
| Options open interest | ~$35-40B; calls 60% / puts 40% | Long-term positioning still bullish |
| Implied volatility (DVOL) | 37.4 | Calm; market not pricing a big shock yet |
| Spot BTC ETF flows | 7 Oct -$487M, 8 Oct -$244M, 9 Oct +$21M | Outflows stopped; watch Monday for restart of inflows |
| Fear & Greed | 64 (Greed) | Recovered from 59 during the selloff |

4. News and macro

- Fed: September minutes (7 Oct) showed most officials expect another hike by end-2026. Rates are at 3.75-4.00% after the 16 Sep hike. This is the main headwind.
- Iran / geopolitics: Trump said there will be no strikes on Iran before the midterms; oil eased. A reversal of this is the biggest headline risk.
- Regulation: The CLARITY Act failed a key Senate vote; the SEC and CFTC will proceed with rules under existing powers. Thailand is moving to allow local BTC/ETH ETFs.
- Security: Ledger is investigating reports of ~$86M stolen via possibly tampered devices. There was no visible price impact.
- Sentiment: "Uptober" has disappointed so far. BTC is about 34% below its $126k all-time high (Oct 2025).

Event calendar (Malaysia time)

| When (MYT) | Event |
|---|---|
| Mon 12 Oct | US Columbus Day (bond market closed); IMF-World Bank meetings begin |
| Tue 13 Oct 4:00pm | Deribit daily options expiry (small) |
| Wed 14 Oct 8:30pm | US September CPI: expected ~3.7% headline (from 3.4%), core ~2.5% |

| When (MYT) | Event |
|---|---|
| Thu 15 Oct 8:30pm | US PPI and retail sales |
| Fri 16 Oct 4:00pm | Deribit weekly expiry ~$1.25B (P/C 1.50) |
| Thu 29 Oct 2:00am | FOMC rate decision (27-28 Oct meeting) |
| Fri 30 Oct 4:00pm | Monthly options expiry $11.7B, max pain $78k |

5. Summary and prediction

BTC is coiling in a tight range while the market waits for Wednesday's CPI. Options show defensive positioning this week (put-heavy Friday expiry), with a strong floor of put hedges at $80,000 and bullish month-end calls far above price at $90-100k. Leverage is not crowded, which limits crash risk, but the hawkish Fed and stalled ETF demand cap the upside. Next 24 hours: most likely range-bound. Direction should come from CPI on Wednesday night.

| Scenario | Chance | Range | Trigger |
|---|---|---|---|
| Base: range | 55% | $82,000 - $84,300 | Quiet US holiday, traders wait for CPI |
| Bullish | 20% | $84,300 then $85,500 - 86,700 | Hourly close above $84.3k, ETF inflows restart, calm Iran news |
| Bearish | 25% | $82,200 then $80,400 (wick to $80k) | ETF outflows return, geopolitical shock, or traders front-run a hot CPI |

- Clean signals: an hourly close above $84,300 (bullish) or below $82,200 (bearish). Anything in between is chop.
- Before CPI (Wed 8:30pm MYT): reduce leverage; a hot print plus put hedging makes a test of $80k likely.
- Next report: 6:00pm MYT today.
