Quick view	Bias: Neutral, slight bearish tilt	Next 24h: $80,000 - $82,900	Key floor: $80,000, then $78,000	Big event: $12.2B monthly expiry 30 Oct, 4pm MYT; FOMC 29 Oct 2am MYT

1. Options - next 24 hours and upcoming expiries

- Next expiry: Deribit daily, Sun 18 Oct, 4:00pm MYT (08:00 UTC). It is a one-day weekend expiry; strike data could not be read this run, and dailies are usually small (well under the ~$1.15B weekly).
- Next weekly: Fri 23 Oct, 4:00pm MYT - ~13,773 contracts (~$1.15B), put/call 1.24, max pain $82,000, biggest strikes the $78k, $70k and $80k puts (as of 16 Oct).
- Expiry that matters: the 30 Oct monthly (~149,686 contracts, ~$12.2B, P/C 0.52, max pain $79,000), which settles ~38 hours after the FOMC decision.

Expiry	Largest position seen	Size	Meaning
18 Oct daily	Not readable this run	n/a	Too small to steer price; weekend liquidity matters more
23 Oct weekly	$78,000 put (largest), then $70k and $80k puts	Total weekly ~$1.15B; P/C 1.24	Downside hedges cluster at $78k-$80k: a soft floor, but sharp moves if it breaks
23 Oct weekly	Calls: 6,149 contracts in total	~$0.50B notional	Calls lighter than puts; little call wall pressure near spot

How options affect the market now

- Short dated is put heavy, longer dated is call heavy. The 23 Oct weekly (P/C 1.24) shows traders paying for downside protection near $78k-$80k, while the 30 Oct monthly (P/C 0.52) is dominated by far out of the money calls at $90k-$100k.
- $80k is the dealer-hedged floor. Put open interest at $78k-$80k means dealers who sold those puts buy dips toward the level, which helps hold it. A clean break below $78k would flip that: dealers sell to hedge and the drop can accelerate.
- Max pain pulls in different directions: $82,000 for the weekly (slightly above spot) and $79,000 for the monthly (about 3% below). Into 23 Oct this mildly favours staying in the low $80ks; into 30 Oct the pull is lower.
- The $95k-$100k calls are far away (~$4.2B combined) and are not a wall right now; they only start to matter if BTC rallies above $88k-$90k, where dealer hedging could add fuel.

- Volatility is low. The monthly's implied vol is ~32% (about 1.7% or ~$1,370 a day), implying ~$76.5k-$86.3k to 30 Oct. Low vol plus a weekend means a quiet, range-bound next 24h is more likely, but a gap move is possible around FOMC.
- The 18 Oct daily is not big enough to matter; watch the 23 Oct weekly and especially the 30 Oct monthly.

Data note: the Deribit public API (index, DVOL, book summary) could not be reached this run, so all option figures are "largest seen" from published reports: CryptoTicker (17 Oct) for 30 Oct and Tokenpost (16 Oct) for 23 Oct. Implied vol is the 30 Oct expiry IV (32.2%), used in place of DVOL.

2. Price action and key levels

- BTC ~$81,410 (CoinDesk, 10:05am EDT / 22:05 MYT), down ~0.6% on 24h; 24h range ~$80,761-$82,816 (CoinGecko via The Crypto Times).
- Bounced off $80,000 on Thursday after briefly losing it this week (7-day low ~$79,806, 7-day high ~$84,231). Pulled back from a recent high near $87,000.
- 4-hour RSI ~44 and a flat-negative MACD (CoinGape): momentum is soft but not breaking down.
- Weekend volume is thin (24h spot volume ~$25.9B, down 22%), which favours range trading and makes stop runs more likely.

Type	Level	Why it matters
Resistance 2	$84,000-$84,300	7-day high and CoinGape's next target after $82k; seller supply
Resistance 1	$82,000-$82,900	Weekly max pain $82k; 24h high ~$82.8k; repeated rejection area
Pivot	$81,000-$81,500	Current consolidation; where price has spent the last day
Support 1	$80,000	Psychological level, big put cluster, bounced on 15-16 Oct
Support 2	$78,000	Largest weekly put strike and prior price cluster; Au79 support
Deep risk	$75,000-$76,500	Lower end of the monthly implied range; $75k/$72k/$70k put strikes

3. Derivatives, flows and sentiment

Metric	Latest	Read
BTC perp open interest	$65.2B-$65.6B (17 Oct)	Elevated; leverage still in the market, room for flushes
Funding (8h)	+0.0054% to +0.0074%	Slightly positive and below normal 0.01%: longs cautious, not crowded
Liquidations (24h)	$315M total, 66% longs; BTC $75.8M (69% longs)	Longs flushed on the dip toward $80k (to 05:35 UTC 17 Oct)
Spot BTC ETF flows	-$82.4M on 16 Oct (IBIT -$71.8M, FBTC -$10.6M)	October net outflow ~$535M-$615M; weak institutional demand
Fear & Greed	40 (Fear)	Cautious sentiment; contrarian support but no capitulation
Implied vol	~32% (30 Oct expiry IV)	Low; about $1,370 expected daily move
Options P/C	1.24 (23 Oct), 0.52 (30 Oct)	Near-term hedging vs longer-dated upside bets

4. News and macro

- Fed: Chair Kevin Warsh declined to signal another hike ("I don't prejudge meetings"); CME FedWatch odds of an October 25bp hike fell to ~13-15% from 27%. US 10-year yield ~5.07-5.10%, still a headwind.
- Geopolitics: Unverified social media claims of a Strait of Hormuz closure were disputed by CENTCOM, which says the waterway remains under US and partner control. Oil and inflation risk (Sept CPI 3.7% y/y) remain in focus.
- Markets: Stocks slid and the VIX jumped on 16 Oct ahead of Monday's 19 Oct Black Monday anniversary; BTC dipped to ~$81k with them.
- ETFs: Third day of outflows for ETH ETFs (-$69.7M, all ETHA) and -$82.4M for BTC ETFs on 16 Oct.

- Industry: Deutsche Bank crypto custody launch (CryptoTicker); quantum-risk headlines after Google's Willow update and a new Quantum Alliance (CoinDesk) - sentiment noise rather than price drivers today.

5. Summary and prediction

BTC is consolidating around $81k-$82k after defending $80k, with weak ETF flows, mild positive funding and Fear-zone sentiment. Options show near-term hedging (puts at $78k-$80k for the 23 Oct weekly) that should cushion dips into $80k, while the big 30 Oct monthly is call-heavy but far out of the money, with max pain lower at $79k. Implied volatility is low and it is the weekend, so a range is the most likely outcome; the real catalysts are the FOMC (29 Oct, 2am MYT) and the $12.2B monthly expiry the next day. 24h call: range $80,000-$82,900, slight downside risk; a 4h close below $80k opens $78k.

Scenario	Chance	Range	Trigger
Base: range	55%	$80,000 - $82,900	Quiet weekend, low vol, put hedges hold $80k
Bearish	25%	$78,000 - $80,000	4h close below $80k, risk-off Monday open, Hormuz or oil shock, more ETF outflows
Bullish	20%	$82,900 - $84,300	4h close above $82.9k, short squeeze, calmer yields

- Breakout up: 4-hour close above $82,900 with rising spot volume targets $84k-$84.3k.
- Breakdown: 4-hour close below $80,000 (and especially $78,000) means dealer hedging turns from support to selling.
