Thursday 15 Oct 2026, 23:50 Malaysia time (15:50 UTC)

HTX/CoinGlass, ~23:00 MYT | 24h ~ +0.3% to +0.5% | wk ~ flat

Quick view	Bias: Neutral, cautious	Next 24h: $80,500 - $83,500	Key floor: $80,000 (puts + 50d EMA)	Big event: Warsh talk 11:30am Fri, expiry 4pm

1. Options - next 24 hours and upcoming expiries

- Next expiry: Fri 16 Oct, 4:00pm MYT (08:00 UTC). It is both the daily and the weekly Friday expiry - the only one in the next 24h.
- Size: ~18,029 BTC open (~$1.48B at $82k), put/call 1.37, max pain $83,000 (CryptoTicker, 15 Oct). Medium-sized - enough to pin price in the last hours, not enough to set the trend.
- The expiry that matters this month is Fri 30 Oct (monthly): ~148,348 BTC (~$12.2B), put/call 0.52, two days after the 28 Oct FOMC decision.

Expiry	Largest position seen	Size	Meaning
16 Oct (weekly)	$78,000 Put	2,746 BTC (~$225M)	Biggest put cluster; dealers likely buy dips here - first hard floor below $80k
16 Oct (weekly)	$80,000 Put	2,142 BTC (~$176M)	Defended today (low $79,950); a break forces hedge-selling toward $78k
16 Oct (weekly)	$90,000 Call	1,144 BTC (~$94M)	Far out of the money; little effect unless BTC rips 10%
30 Oct (monthly)	$95,000 Call	25,031 BTC (~$2.05B)	Largest single strike on Deribit; mostly an upside lottery ticket, not near-term resistance
30 Oct (monthly)	$70,000 Put	3,212 BTC (~$263M)	Deep crash hedge; $80k put ~2,791 BTC is next

How options affect the market now

- Put-heavy weekly (P/C 1.37): traders are hedged for downside. That is why $80k held today - puts at $78k-$80k (~$400M) give dealers a reason to buy dips there while price sits above.
- Acceleration risk below $80k: if $80k breaks on a closing basis, dealers who are short those puts must sell futures to stay hedged, which can speed a move to $78k.

- Pull toward max pain $83k: BTC at ~$82k is $1k under max pain. In quiet trade into 4pm Friday, a mild drift up toward $82.5k-$83k is a common pattern - but macro (Warsh at 11:30am) can easily override it.
- Calls are far away: the nearest call cluster ($85k-$87k) is 4-6% above price, so there is no near-term call wall capping the market; upside is limited more by sellers at $84k than by options.
- After expiry: once the 16 Oct puts roll off, the $80k floor loses some dealer support; volatility (~40% implied, ~2.1% or ~$1,700 a day) can expand into the 28 Oct FOMC and the $12B monthly.
- Monthly (30 Oct) is the real magnet: max pain $78k vs. a huge $95k call stack; low P/C 0.52 shows longer-dated traders still lean bullish.

Data note: the Deribit public API could not be read this run, so strike data comes from published CryptoTicker/Digital Today summaries (15 Oct and 13 Oct); 30 Oct max pain/strikes are from 10 Oct. USD sizes = OI x $82,000. Treat as largest seen, not complete.

2. Price action and key levels

- BTC spiked to ~$84,025 right after the hot CPI on Wed (14 Oct, ~8:30pm MYT), then sold off with chip stocks and the Kospi rout.
- Thu 15 Oct: hot PPI (8:30pm MYT) pushed BTC to $79,950 at ~9:54pm MYT - first trade under $80k since mid-September - before a quick rebound.
- BTC recovered to ~$82,000 by ~11pm MYT as Treasury yields fell sharply (10y ~5.04-5.06%) and Nasdaq losses narrowed.
- Altcoins weaker: ETH ~$2,370-2,420 (lowest since 20 Aug), BTC dominance ~59%.
- Daily trend still soft: MACD below zero, RSI ~45; price has held the 50-day EMA (~$80,340) on a closing basis so far.

Type	Level	Why it matters
Resistance 2	$85,000 - $87,000	Weekly call strikes $85k/$87k; top of the one-month range; QCP key resistance ~$87.4k
Resistance 1	$84,000	Post-CPI spike high ($84,025); sellers stepped in there
Pivot	$82,000 - $83,000	Current price and 16 Oct max pain ($83k); holding above keeps the bounce alive
Support 1	$80,000	Big put strike, 50-day EMA ~$80,340, today's low $79,950
Support 2	$78,000	Largest weekly put (2,746 BTC); 30 Oct max pain; SuperTrend ~$79,660 just above
Deep risk	$76,000 - $75,900	$76k put strike plus 100-day EMA (~$76,700) and 200-day EMA (~$75,900)

Total crypto futures OI	~$139.6B, flat	Volume +61% to $252B on the selloff - churn, not new leverage

Fear and Greed	53 (neutral)	Down from 62 a day earlier
Fed hike odds (28 Oct)	~27-34% (CME)	Down from ~45-50% after CPI as yields fell

4. News and macro

- Hot US inflation: Sep CPI 3.7% y/y (core 2.6%); Sep PPI +1.3% m/m, 6.3% y/y - biggest monthly jump since 2022. Retail sales beat (+0.8-0.9%), jobless claims low at 199k.
- Fed: rate 3.75-4.00% after a September hike. October hike odds spiked near 50%, then eased to ~27-34% as bonds rallied. Chair Warsh speaks (no script) at 11:30am MYT Fri.
- AI/chip rout: semis down 7 days in a row, CoreWeave credit stress (2032 bonds ~15% yield), Kospi -20% in 7 sessions (-7.5 to -8% Thu). Bitcoin miners and neoclouds hit hard.
- Bond and haven moves: US 10y fell ~13bp to ~5.06% (from 5.36% Wed); gold ~$4,150; WTI ~$96.8.
- Crypto-specific: EBA named Circle's USDC the first 'significant' e-money token under MiCA; reports of Hex founder Richard Heart's arrest in Istanbul; a mining pool that once had 2.3% of hashrate shut down.

5. Summary and prediction

Bitcoin is stuck between a hot-inflation macro shock and a solid options floor. Hot CPI and PPI plus a chip-stock rout pushed BTC briefly under $80,000, but put positioning at $78k-$80k, the 50-day EMA and a sharp fall in bond yields (which cut October hike odds) brought it back to ~$82,000. Into Friday's 4pm expiry, the put-heavy book and $83k max pain favour a range with a mild upward lean, but Warsh's unscripted talk at 11:30am is the swing factor. A firm close under $80k would open $78k; reclaiming $84k is needed for any real upside. 24h call: range-bound $80,500-$83,500, slight drift toward $82.5-83k into expiry unless Warsh sounds hawkish.

Scenario	Chance	Range	Trigger
Base: range/pin	55%	$80,500 - $83,500	Warsh balanced, yields stable; options pin toward $82-83k into 4pm expiry
Bullish	25%	$83,500 - $86,000	Warsh downplays an October hike, yields keep falling, Nasdaq rebounds; hourly close above $84k
Bearish	20%	$77,500 - $80,500	Hawkish Warsh, chip/credit rout resumes, more ETF outflows; daily close under $80k

- Breakout up: 1h/4h close above $84,000 with rising spot volume - targets $85-87k.
- Breakdown: close under $80,000 (and below SuperTrend ~$79,660) - targets $78k, then $76k.
- Next report: Fri 16 Oct, 7:50am MYT
