1. Options - next 24 hours and upcoming expiries

- Next expiry: today, Fri 30 Oct, 4:00pm MYT (08:00 UTC) - this is the October monthly expiry on Deribit, settled on the 30-minute average of the Deribit index before 08:00 UTC.
- Size: about 135,000 BTC, roughly $10.6-11B notional at today's price - about one third of all Deribit BTC options open interest. Put/call 0.52-0.53, max pain $78,000.
- The expiry that matters this week is today's. After it, the next weekly is Fri 6 Nov (4:00pm MYT), the next monthly Fri 27 Nov, and the big quarterly Fri 25 Dec (~135,500 BTC already open).

Expiry	Largest position seen	Size	Meaning
30 Oct (monthly)	$95,000 Call	19,951 BTC (~$1.57B)	Far out of the money; expires worthless unless BTC jumps 20%+. No pull on price now.
30 Oct (monthly)	$100,000 / $90,000 Calls	11,285 / 10,756 BTC	Also worthless at settlement; 58,717 calls sit above $90k in total.

How options affect the market now

- Max pain pull is unusually close: spot (~$78.8k) is already within about 1% of the $78,000 max pain. Into 4pm MYT the options pull is toward $78k, which fits a choppy pin rather than a big move - unless hack news overrides it.
- Calls are irrelevant now: about 86% of the contracts expire worthless. The $90-100k call stack had no hedging pull at these prices, so there is no upside 'magnet' today.
- Put cluster $69-75k: dealers who sold these puts are short downside gamma; a fast drop toward $75k could make them sell futures to hedge and speed the fall. Low risk at $78k-$80k, rising below $76k.
- Sentiment: P/C 0.52 shows positioning was bullish before the hack. Those bullish bets are now offside, which is part of why longs were liquidated so hard.

- After 4pm: about a third of Deribit OI rolls off, removing the pin. Expect volatility to pick up into the weekend and the 1 Nov monthly candle close, especially with Binance withdrawals still paused.
- Volatility: DVOL was ~36 before the hack (implied daily move ~1.9%, about $1,500). The hack likely lifted it; treat $1,500-2,500 daily swings as normal right now.

Data note: the Deribit API (index, DVOL, book summary) could not be read this run, so strike sizes are 'largest seen' from published coverage (CryptoTicker, Decrypt, Cointribune, KuCoin, written before the hack) and USD sizes use ~$78,800. Weekly and Nov monthly figures were not available.

2. Price action and key levels

- BTC traded $79,600-$81,700 on Thursday and touched ~$82,000 in the US morning after GDP beat and core PCE came in line, then faded to ~$80,600 by afternoon.
- Around 04:24am MYT (20:24 UTC) billions began leaving a Binance hot wallet; BTC fell from ~$80,800 to a low of about $78,300 on Binance by ~04:35am MYT.
- Price bounced to ~$79,100 then slipped back to ~$78,800 (CoinMarketCap, 06:15am MYT). One CoinDesk widget showed ~$77,900 later, so price is still unstable near the $78k max pain.
- Weekly picture: BTC is down about 3% on the week and roughly 38% below the $126,080 all-time high; $80k has flipped from support to resistance.

Type	Level	Why it matters
Resistance	$81,500 - $82,000	Post-FOMC high ($81,739), Thursday's high and ETF holder cost-basis pivot.
Resistance	$80,000 - $80,500	Pre-hack breakdown zone and round number; must be reclaimed to cancel the bearish read.
Pivot	$78,000	Options max pain for today's expiry; spot is sitting on it.
Support	$76,300 - $76,500	2 Sep low and 200-day moving average.
Support	$75,000 - $75,400	Strategy average cost ($75,446) and top of the $69-75k put cluster; dealer hedging could speed a drop here.
Deep risk	$70,000 - $72,000	Largest put strikes; target if the hack turns into a solvency or contagion scare.

3. Derivatives, flows and sentiment

Metric	Latest	Read
Funding rate	Deribit +0.0032%/8h; all-exchange avg ~+0.0049% (pre-hack)	Neutral-positive; longs were not paying much, yet still got flushed.
Liquidations (24h)	~$951M-$1B; ~$628M in one hour	82%+ longs. BTC $189-289M depending on source; Binance $345M of total.
Futures open interest	Not found this run	The long flush likely cut OI; check CoinGlass.
Spot BTC ETF flows	+$110M (26 Oct), +$176M (27 Oct), +$137M (28 Oct)	Three straight inflow days; October now +$111M. 29 Oct flow not yet published.
Fear and Greed	51 Neutral (29 Oct, pre-hack)	Likely to drop into Fear after the hack.
Implied vol (DVOL)	~36 (pre-hack, down from 38)	Cheap vol before the shock; expect a jump.

4. News and macro

- Suspected Binance hack: about $2.8-3.5B drained from Binance Ethereum hot wallets from 04:24am MYT via an EIP-7702 delegation, reportedly funded from a Tornado Cash-linked address. Binance is 'investigating a potential security issue' and paused some withdrawals; CZ says user funds are safe and expects full coverage.

- Freezes: Tether froze ~$1.57B USDT and Circle ~$0.8B USDC (~$2.4B combined); Ripple, World Liberty and BitGo also froze funds; Aave froze lending markets as a precaution. Over $1B, mostly ETH (~195k ETH), stays with the attacker - a sale would hit ETH and BTC.
- Fed: on 28 Oct the FOMC held at 3.75-4.00% (10-2, two dissents wanted a hike). Prediction markets now price ~80% odds of a hike on 9 Dec - a headwind for crypto.
- US data (29 Oct): Q3 GDP +3.4% (beat); September PCE 3.6% y/y, core 3.1% (in line). Strong growth plus sticky inflation supports the hawkish Fed tilt.
- Earnings: Coinbase Q3 revenue $1.22B (-35% y/y, slight miss) but EPS $2.51 on crypto gains; Amazon and Intel slid after hours. Strategy reported after the close; its BTC cushion over cost is now only ~4-6%.
- Geopolitics: oil near $102 with talk of renewed US strikes on Iran adds to risk-off pressure.

5. Summary and prediction

BTC was coiling around $80-81k into today's ~$11B monthly expiry when a suspected multi-billion Binance hot-wallet hack hit, flushing about $1B of mostly long positions and pushing price onto the $78,000 max pain. Stablecoin issuers froze about $2.4B and Binance says user funds are safe, which limits the damage, but withdrawals are partly paused, the attacker still holds over $1B of ETH, and the Fed is now leaning toward a December hike. Options should keep price pinned near $78k until 4pm MYT; after that the pin disappears and the hack headlines decide direction. 24h call: bearish-to-sideways, $76,500-$80,500, with a lean to retest $77k before any recovery.

Scenario	Chance	Range	Trigger
Base: pinned chop	50%	$77,000 - $80,000	Binance confirms coverage, no new outflows; max pain holds into 4pm MYT.
Bearish: breakdown	30%	$74,500 - $77,000	Withdrawals stay frozen, loss estimate grows, or attacker dumps ETH; daily close below $76,300.
Bullish: relief	20%	$80,000 - $82,000	Binance resumes all withdrawals and SAFU covers losses; BTC reclaims $80,500 on volume.

- Breakdown signal: hourly close below $77,000 then $76,300 with rising liquidations - opens $75k quickly.
- Recovery signal: Binance full withdrawal resumption plus a reclaim of $80,500; ETF flows on 29-30 Oct staying positive.
- Next report: 3:50pm MYT (just before the 4:00pm expiry).
