1. Options - next 24 hours and upcoming expiries

- This week: weekly BTC-23OCT26, Fri 23 Oct 4:00pm MYT - about 13,800-14,800 BTC OI (~$1.15-1.2B), put-heavy (P/C 1.24), max pain $82,000.
- The one that matters: monthly BTC-30OCT26, Fri 30 Oct 4:00pm MYT - ~$12.2B notional, P/C 0.52, max pain $79,000, two days after the Fed decision.

Expiry	Largest position seen	Size	Meaning
19 Oct (daily)	Not available	n/a	Deribit feed not reachable this run; daily size is normally too small to steer price.
23 Oct weekly	$78,000 Put (largest)	n/p (of 7,624 puts)	Downside hedge just below $80k support; dealers short puts would sell into a drop below $78k.
23 Oct weekly	$80,000 / $70,000 Puts	n/p	Put cluster $78k-80k marks the defended floor; max pain $82k sits above spot.
30 Oct monthly	$95,000 Call	25,570 BTC (~$2.07B)	Far out-of-money upside bet; little hedging effect unless BTC rallies hard.

How options affect the market now

- Today's daily expiry is not big enough to matter; price over the next 24h is driven by spot/ETF flows and macro (oil, yields), not by options settlement.
- Weekly (23 Oct) is put-heavy (P/C 1.24) with puts stacked at $78k-80k: traders are paying for downside protection. If $80k breaks, dealer hedging of those puts can add selling and speed the move toward $78k.
- Max pain tug-of-war: weekly max pain $82k sits just above spot (mild upward pull into Friday), while the monthly max pain $79k sits below (pull lower into 30 Oct). Expect chop between the two.

- Monthly is call-heavy but far out of the money ($90k-$100k): sentiment for year-end is still constructive, but these strikes are too far away to act as magnets now.
- Volatility: last DVOL we could find was 37.7 (12 Oct), implying ~2.0% (~$1,600) daily moves; 30-day put skew had turned negative (-2.2), confirming demand for downside cover.
- After the 30 Oct expiry (and the 28-29 Oct FOMC), a large share of OI rolls off, which usually frees price to trend more.

Data note: the Deribit public API (index, DVOL, book summary) could not be reached this run, so option figures are the latest published by news outlets (TokenPost 16 Oct, CryptoTicker 17 Oct; Oct 30 OI by strike as reported) and DVOL is a week old (BIT, 12 Oct). Treat them as 'largest seen', not live.

2. Price action and key levels

- Week of 11-18 Oct: high $84,262 (12 Oct), low $79,676 (15 Oct after the PPI shock), weekly close $81,960 (-1.3%).
- Sunday evening drifted lower: CoinDesk shows $80,776 (-1.0% 24h) at 4:46am MYT; CoinGecko 24h range $80,672-82,178.
- Price is stuck below the 20-day MA (~$84,000) and just above the 50-day MA (~$81,000) - a tight range with falling volume.
- Glassnode puts the ETF holder cost basis near $81,500; trading around it makes ETF holders sensitive to further outflows.

Type	Level	Why it matters
Resistance 2	$84,250	Weekly high and repeated rejection; ~20-day MA.
Resistance 1	$82,500 - 83,000	Neckline and upper range; weekly max pain $82k just below.
Pivot	$81,000 - 81,500	50-day MA and ETF cost basis; current balance point.
Support 1	$80,000 / $79,700	Round number, weekly put cluster, last week's low.
Deep risk	$77,500 - 78,000	Glassnode True Market Mean; $78k weekly put; break opens $75k.

3. Derivatives, flows and sentiment

Long/short accounts	63% long	Retail leans long - fuel if $80k breaks.
Liquidations 24h	$315M, 66% longs (17 Oct)	Longs keep getting flushed on dips; ~$1B on 15 Oct.
Spot BTC ETF flows	-$82.4M (16 Oct); week -$228M	Second straight week of outflows; Oct total over -$1B crypto ETFs.
Fear and Greed	53 (Newhedge, undated)	Neutral.

4. News and macro

- Inflation shock: Sept CPI 3.7% y/y (above 3.6% forecast); PPI +1.3% m/m, 6.3% y/y - biggest monthly jump since Mar 2022. 10-year yield ~5.1%.
- Fed: FOMC 27-28 Oct; NY Fed's Williams says one more hike this year may be appropriate; Chair Warsh gave no guidance. CME had ~19% odds of a 25bp hike (12 Oct), likely higher after PPI.
- Geopolitics/oil: attacks on Strait of Hormuz shipping pushed Brent to ~$110 and WTI ~$101 (16 Oct); Asian equities sold off hard (Kospi circuit breaker, Nikkei -4.9%).
- Corporate treasuries: MSCI to exclude non-operating companies (final list 11 Nov) - Strategy fell 9.6%; Strive raising ~$630M (settles 20 Oct) and buying BTC.

- Adoption: Schwab opened BTC/ETH trading to all eligible clients; CME targets BCH/UNI futures today; SEC Regulation Crypto Assets comment deadline 20 Oct.
- Security: Google Willow quantum progress revived Satoshi-era coin debate; Ledger spy-chip scam cost ~$5M in BTC.

5. Summary and prediction

BTC is coiling around $81,000, squeezed between hot inflation, ~5.1% yields, $100+ oil and steady ETF outflows on one side, and a firm $80,000 floor defended by spot buyers and treasury companies on the other. Options say the same: short-dated traders are buying puts at $78k-80k, while the big monthly book is far-out calls that will not matter until the Fed. Today's daily expiry is small, so the next 24 hours should be driven by Asia and US-open flows and oil headlines. 24h call: range-bound $80,300-82,500, with a slight downside lean; a clean break of $80,000 is the key risk.

Scenario	Chance	Range	Trigger
Base: range	55%	$80,300 - 82,500	No new macro shock; ETF flows near flat; weekly max pain $82k caps upside.
Bullish	20%	$82,500 - 84,300	Hourly close above $82,500 with ETF inflows / oil easing; shorts squeeze toward $84k.
Bearish	25%	$78,000 - 80,000	Hourly close below $79,700, more ETF outflows or oil spike; put hedging accelerates to $78k.

- Breakout signals: hourly close above $82,500 (bull) or below $79,700 (bear) with volume and a funding shift.
- Monday US ETF flow print and oil/Hormuz headlines; China GDP at 10:00am MYT.
- Next report: 3:50pm MYT (Mon 19 Oct).
