BTC 8-Hour Market Report

Wed 28 Oct 2026, 15:50 Malaysia time (07:50 UTC)

BTC ~ $80,850

Binance spot $80,882 at 15:07 MYT; +1.6% 24h, range $79,506-81,300

Quick view	Bias: Neutral, range-bound into the Fed	Next 24h range: $79,000 - $82,400	Key floor: $79,145 (Oct 24 low), then $78,000 max pain	Big event: Fed decision Thu 2:00am MYT; PCE + GDP Thu 8:30pm

1. Options - next 24 hours and upcoming expiries

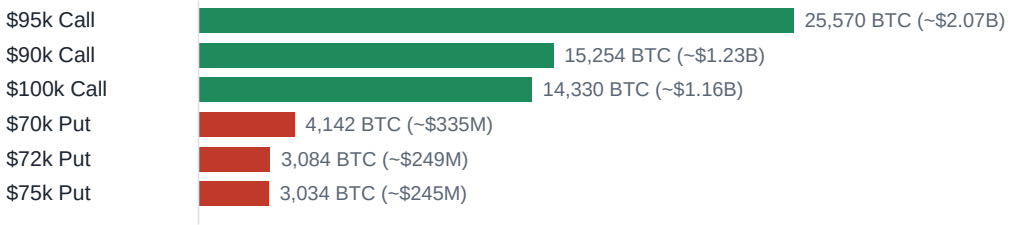
- Next expiries: today's Deribit daily (28 Oct) settles at 4:00pm MYT, minutes after this report; the next daily is Thu 29 Oct, 4:00pm MYT. Both dailies are small and only matter if price is pinned near a round strike at settlement.
- Big one this week: Fri 30 Oct, 4:00pm MYT is both the weekly and the October monthly - about $10.9-11.2B notional, roughly 35% of all Deribit BTC options open interest.
- Because the Fed decision (Thu 2:00am MYT) and US PCE/GDP (Thu 8:30pm MYT) land before Friday's expiry, macro will drive price first; the expiry mostly shapes how far moves can run.

Expiry	Largest position seen	Size	Meaning
29 Oct (daily)	Strike data not available this run	Small (daily)	Too small to steer price; ignore unless spot sits at $80k/$81k into 4pm Thu
30 Oct (weekly + monthly)	$95,000 Call	~25,570 BTC (~$2.07B)	Biggest single bet - far out of the money, likely expires worthless; no near-term hedging pressure
30 Oct (weekly + monthly)	$70,000 Put	~4,142 BTC (~$335M)	Largest put is far below spot - downside insurance, not an active floor

Upcoming expiries

Expiry (Malaysia time)	Notional	Put/Call	Max pain	Largest strikes
Thu 29 Oct, 4:00pm (daily)	Small	n/a	n/a	Not available this run
Fri 30 Oct, 4:00pm (weekly + monthly)	~$10.9-11.2B	0.56	$78,000 Deribit ($81-82k Binance/OKX)	Calls $95k (25.6k BTC), $90k (15.3k), $100k (14.3k); Puts $70k (4.1k), $72k (3.1k), $75k (3.0k)
Fri 27 Nov, 4:00pm (monthly)	~$2.2B (26,779 BTC, mid-Oct)	n/a	n/a	Active flow in $98k and $90k calls
Fri 25 Dec, 4:00pm (quarterly)	Large	n/a	~$75,000 Deribit (early Oct)	Heavy call share (~62% of OI)

Fri 30 Oct expiry - largest Deribit open interest by strike (BTC; USD at ~$80.85k)



How options affect the market now

- Call walls are far away. The $90k-$100k calls are 11-24% above spot, so dealers have little hedging to do near $81k. They do not cap price today; they only become fuel if BTC rallies hard toward $85k+.
- Pull toward max pain. Deribit max pain is $78,000, about $2.8k below spot, so option sellers profit most from a dip into Friday. Binance/OKX max pain at $81-82k sits on top of spot, which means the gravity is mixed and weak.
- Sentiment is call-heavy but cautious. Open-interest put/call of 0.56 shows upside bets dominate, but trading volume has been more balanced (P/C ~0.77), with the $76k put among the most-traded contracts - traders are buying protection into the Fed.

- Volatility is cheap. DVOL near 37, among its lowest levels in five years, prices only about a 1.9% daily move (~$1,570). A hawkish surprise from the Fed could expand volatility fast from these lows.
- After Friday: about 35% of open interest rolls off. That removes any pinning effect, and early November (US midterms on 3 Nov) often brings bigger moves once the expiry is cleared.
- Is the next-24h expiry big enough to matter? No. The Thursday daily is minor; Friday's $11B monthly is the one that matters.

Data note: the Deribit public API could not be reached this run, so strike sizes come from the latest published analysis (CryptoTicker, 17 Oct; Tokenpost, 23 Oct) and are 'largest seen', not live. Notional and put/call are from 23-27 Oct reports; DVOL is the latest published level (~37).

2. Price action and key levels

- BTC is about $80,850, up ~1.6% over 24h after reclaiming $80,000 (Binance range $79,506-81,300).
- The bounce was mostly short covering: about 75% of the last 24h's $34.5M liquidations were shorts, so it reflects forced buying more than new demand.
- Price has held a tight $79,000-$81,000 box all week and has not reclaimed $82,000 since the 21 Oct high at $84,840.
- Daily momentum is soft: RSI(14) ~45, MACD flat at zero, price below the 20/50-day averages (~$81,900) but well above the 200-day (~$73,100).

Type	Level	Why it matters
Resistance 2	$84,840	21 Oct swing high; above it, the path opens toward the $90k call strikes
Resistance 1	$81,900-82,360	20- and 50-day SMA cluster plus pivot R2; a daily close above $82,000 is the breakout trigger
Pivot	$80,000-80,560	Round number, daily pivot, and the ~$80-81.5k cost basis of ETF holders and treasuries
Support 1	$79,145	24 Oct low; a close below invalidates the bounce
Support 2	$78,000	Deribit max pain for Friday's $11B expiry - a magnet if support breaks
Deep risk	$75,500-76,400	200-day EMA area and the level analysts say must hold for the bull structure; $75k put strike

3. Derivatives, flows and sentiment

Metric	Latest	Read
Futures OI (Binance BTCUSDT)	~$7.65B, -0.2% 24h	Flat - no fresh leverage chasing the bounce
Total futures OI (all venues)	~$51.7B (10 Oct)	Elevated; CME OI fell ~36.5k BTC in October (institutions de-risking)
Funding (8h, Binance)	+0.0054%	Neutral; longs are not paying up
Long/short accounts (Binance)	1.94 (66% long)	Crowded long by headcount - risk of a long flush on bad Fed news
Liquidations 24h	$34.5M (75% shorts)	Quiet; bounce was a squeeze, not spot demand
Spot BTC ETF flows	+$110.3M (26 Oct)	Ended a 2-day outflow streak (-$635.6M on 22 Oct, -$137.9M on 23 Oct); October net negative ~-$200M
Fear & Greed	~47-51 (Neutral)	Down from the low 50s a week ago; 30-day average 62 (Greed)
DVOL (30d implied vol)	~37	Near 5-year lows; implies ~1.9% (~$1,570) daily move

4. News and macro

- Fed decision tonight (Thu 2:00am MYT): markets price ~88-93% odds of a hold at 3.75-4.00% after September's hike, but ~73% odds of a December hike. Chair Kevin Warsh's press conference (2:30am MYT) is the main risk - hawkish guidance would pressure BTC.
- Heavy US data Thursday: September PCE (headline seen at 3.6% y/y, core 3.1%), Q3 GDP (~3.0-3.2%) and jobless claims - all at 8:30pm MYT. Hot inflation would firm up December hike bets.

- Geopolitics and oil: WTI ~$100/bbl on Iran-related supply risk; reports the US warned Gulf states of a possible short military campaign against Iran after the midterms, and a fire near Saudi Arabia's largest oil export hub.
- Risk appetite: Nasdaq +1.2% and chip stocks +3.6% on Tuesday helped crypto; gold back above $4,000.
- Crypto-specific: Electrum patched a fee-bump flaw that let malicious servers steal funds (v4.8.3); Ripple got final OCC approval for a national trust bank; Strategy bought no BTC last week and reports Q3 results Thursday after the US close, as does Coinbase.

5. Summary and prediction

Bitcoin has bounced back above $80,000, but the move was driven by short covering in a quiet market, with flat open interest, neutral funding and Fear & Greed near 50. Options positioning is not a strong force near spot: the giant $90k-$100k calls for Friday's $11B expiry are far out of the money, Deribit max pain at $78,000 gives a mild downward pull, and implied volatility is near five-year lows, so the market is underpricing a possible Fed surprise. The next 24 hours are about the Fed (2:00am MYT) and Thursday's PCE/GDP (8:30pm MYT). A dovish hold could let BTC test the $82,000 cluster; any hint that a December hike is likely could push it back to $79,000 or toward $78,000 max pain. 24h call: range $79,000-$82,400, neutral; a daily close above $82,000 turns it bullish, a break below $79,145 opens $78,000.

Scenario	Chance	Range	Trigger
Base: chop	55%	$79,000 - $82,000	Fed holds as expected, no new guidance; price drifts between pivot and SMA cluster ahead of Friday expiry
Bullish	25%	$82,000 - $84,800	Dovish-leaning hold or soft PCE; daily close above $82,000 with ETF inflows and rising OI
Bearish	20%	$76,500 - $79,000	Warsh signals December hike or hot PCE; loss of $79,145 triggers long liquidations toward $78k max pain

- Breakout signal: a daily close above $82,000 (20/50-day SMA cluster) with spot volume and ETF inflows - opens $84,840.
- Breakdown signal: an hourly close below $79,145 after the Fed - expect a fast move to $78,000 and possibly $76,500.
- Next report: 11:50pm MYT today (Wed 28 Oct)
