BTC 8-Hour Market Report

Tue 27 Oct 2026, 07:52 Malaysia time (23:52 UTC Mon)

BTC ~ $80,000

CoinGecko: 24h ~flat, range $79.3k-$80.7k, 7d -2.6%

Quick view	Bias: Neutral to mildly bearish, pre-FOMC chop	Next 24h range: $78.5k - $81.8k	Key floor: $79.0k, then $78.0k (max pain)	Big event: FOMC Thu 29 Oct 02:00 MYT; $11.1B expiry Fri 30 Oct 16:00

1. Options - next 24 hours and upcoming expiries

- Next expiry: Deribit daily BTC-27OCT26 settles today Tue 27 Oct, 4:00pm MYT (08:00 UTC). Daily expiries are normally a small slice of total open interest and rarely move price on their own.
- How big: live strike data for the daily could not be read this run (Deribit feed not reachable), so its size is not stated. The market-wide Deribit BTC options OI is about $38.6B (Glassnode, 26 Oct).
- Which expiry matters this week: Friday 30 Oct (weekly + monthly), about $11.1B notional, roughly 34.6% of Deribit BTC options OI, P/C 0.56, max pain $78,000. It lands two days after the Fed.

Expiry	Largest position seen	Size	Meaning
27 Oct 16:00 (daily)	Not available this run	n/a	Too small to matter vs Friday; spot driven by FOMC positioning
30 Oct 16:00 (weekly/monthly)	$95k Call	25,570 BTC (~$2.05B)	Far out-of-the-money upside bet; little hedging pull at $80k unless a squeeze starts
30 Oct 16:00 (weekly/monthly)	$70k Put	4,142 BTC (~$331M)	Crash protection; puts cluster $70k-$75k, well below spot

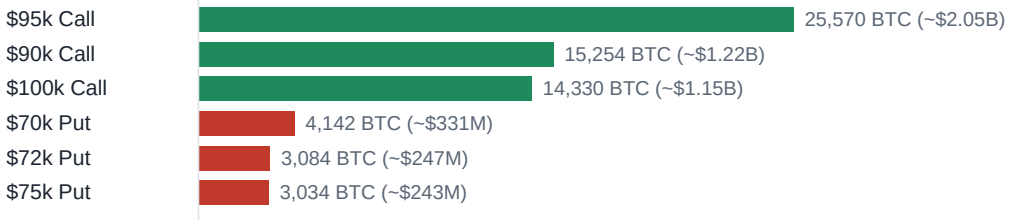
30 Oct 2026 expiry - largest open interest by strike (Deribit, 17 Oct snapshot; USD at $80k)



How options affect the market now

- Pull toward max pain: spot at ~$80k sits only ~2.5% above Friday's $78,000 max pain. Into expiry, option sellers tend to benefit if price drifts lower toward $78k-79k, a mild downward magnet.
- Call walls are far away: the big call stack ($90k-$100k) is 12-25% above spot. Most of those calls will expire worthless; they do not cap price near term, but a rally into $85k+ would force dealers to buy, which can accelerate a move.
- Put side is thin near spot: put OI clusters at $70k-$75k. Between $75k and $80k there is little options support, so a break below $78k-79k has less hedging cushion.
- Sentiment: P/C 0.56 says positioning is still call-heavy overall, but 25-delta skew rose to 10.4% (Glassnode), meaning new money is paying up for downside protection ahead of the Fed.

- Volatility: implied vol is holding while realised vol is low (vol spread 32.3%). FOMC (Thu 02:00 MYT) and Friday's expiry are the two release points; expect larger swings Thursday and calmer trading after Friday 16:00 as hedges roll off.
- Today's daily expiry at 16:00 MYT is unlikely to matter; positioning for the Fed matters more.

Data note: the Deribit API and CoinDesk could not be fetched this run, so DVOL and live per-strike OI are missing. Strike sizes are the largest seen in published snapshots (CryptoTicker 17 Oct; notional/P/C/max pain from 22 Oct analyses) and may have shifted since. USD sizes = OI x ~$80,000.

2. Price action and key levels

- BTC broke below $80,000 over the weekend for the first time since mid-September, low $79,146 on Saturday; it lost its 50-day average (~$81,700) for the first time in 66 days.
- Last week's push toward $85,000 (Wed 21 Oct) failed; Thursday's Nasdaq -2.6% sell-off and record ETF outflows started the slide.
- Monday traded a tight $79.3k-$80.7k range (CoinGecko) with volume ~$18-29B; US stocks bounced (Nasdaq +0.8%) but BTC did not follow, closing near $79.8k-$80.0k.
- Price keeps dipping under $80k and being bought back, so $80k is the pivot. Daily RSI ~40: weak but not oversold.

Type	Level	Why it matters
Resistance 2	$82,000 - $82,500	Floor lost last Thursday; top of short-term range
Resistance 1	$81,200 - $81,800	Recovery threshold and the 50-day average (~$81,700)
Pivot	$80,000	Round number, big Binance bid block; repeatedly reclaimed
Support 1	$79,000 - $79,150	Weekend low; liquidation cluster near $79,600
Support 2	$77,600 - $78,000	Options max pain + True Market Mean (~$77,600)
Deep risk	$75,000 - $75,600	100-day average; puts cluster; below that $73k-74k (200-day, Strategy cost ~$73,981)

3. Derivatives, flows and sentiment

Metric	Latest	Read
Futures open interest	~$53.2B (CoinGlass, 26 Oct)	Up 1.8% w/w while price fell: new shorts or trapped longs, fuel for a sharp move
Funding rate	~0.004-0.006% / 8h	Neutral; no crowded leverage on either side
Liquidations (24h)	~$185M, ~74% longs	Calmer than Saturday's ~$810M flush
Options OI / skew	$38.6B; 25d skew 10.4%	Puts getting more expensive: hedging into FOMC
Spot ETF flows	Thu -$635.5M, Fri -$137.9M; week +$301M	Largest outflow since June; Monday 26 Oct figure not yet seen
Exchange netflow	+7,997 BTC (19-25 Oct)	Coins moving to exchanges: possible selling supply
Fear & Greed	43 (CoinMarketCap)	Neutral-to-fear, down 8 pts in a week
Implied vol (DVOL)	Not available this run	Deribit feed unreachable

4. News and macro

- Fed: FOMC meets 27-28 Oct; decision Thu 29 Oct 02:00 MYT. Markets price ~90-93% hold at 3.75-4.00% after September's hike, but ~70% odds of a December hike. Chair Warsh's tone on December is the swing factor.
- Oil and geopolitics: Brent ~$117 (highest close since April) after Houthi attacks on Saudi Arabia and reports of possible US/Israel strikes on Iran after the 3 Nov midterms. High oil keeps inflation and hike risk alive.
- Equities/AI: Nasdaq fell 2.6% Thursday on AI spending worries; Microsoft and Alphabet report this week. 10-year Treasury ~5.0%.

- Regulation: OCC finalised GENIUS Act stablecoin rules (effective 18 Jan 2027); JPMorgan sees CLARITY Act unlikely in 2026; Switzerland approved its first retail spot BTC ETF; BlackRock filed a BTC ETF with options-based downside protection.
- Flows/supply: 500 BTC (~$41M) from a dormant wallet linked to an Irish court case moved to Coinbase Prime. No major exchange hack reported.

5. Summary and prediction

BTC is pinned around $80,000 after losing its 50-day average and seeing the largest ETF outflow since June. Leverage is neutral (flat funding) but open interest is rising, skew is turning toward puts and oil is above $115, so traders are hedging ahead of Thursday's 02:00 MYT Fed decision. Options add a mild downward pull toward Friday's $78k max pain, with thin put support between $75k and $79k, while the big call walls ($90k-$100k) are too far away to matter this week. The next 24 hours are most likely a pre-Fed holding pattern; the real move is likely on Thursday. 24h call: range $78.5k-$81.8k, slight downside lean; a clean break of $79k opens $78k.

Scenario	Chance	Range	Trigger
Base: pre-Fed range	55%	$78,800 - $81,200	No surprise news; $80k keeps being defended; ETF flows mixed
Bearish: max-pain drift	27%	$77,500 - $79,500	Hourly close below $79,000, more ETF outflows, oil spike or weak tech stocks
Bullish: reclaim 50-day	18%	$81,200 - $82,800	Hold above $80.5k then break $81,800 on ETF inflows / risk-on equities

- Downside signal: 4h close below $79,000 with rising OI = longs trapped; target $78,000 then $77,600.
- Upside signal: daily close back above $81,800 (50-day) with positive ETF flows; next $82,500 and $84,000.
- Next report: 3:50pm MYT (Tue 27 Oct)
